Course Description:
This course is a study of representative American literature from the late nineteenth century to the present. Students read works by such authors as Twain, O'Neill, Hurston, Hemingway, Faulkner, Frost, Wright, Ginsberg, and Rich.

General Education Course. Lecture (3.00). Prerequisite: WRT-101.

Suggested Text(s):

Student Learning Objectives: As a result of meeting the requirements of this course, you will be able to:

1. Identify major works and themes of American literature from the latter nineteenth century to the present.
2. Employ close textual analysis to interpret and evaluate works of American literature.
3. Demonstrate, in both class discussion and written assignments, an understanding of the major genres of the period as well as the various literary techniques that writers use in constructing their texts.
4. Identify the correlative aesthetic, literary, historical, cultural, social, and/or political movements that contextualize the texts under study.
5. Apply appropriate critical lenses to works of American literature.
6. Produce a properly formatted written evaluation of selected works of American literature; and demonstrate competency in both research methodologies and literary analysis.
Course Requirements:

Students will be required to do the following:

1. Analyze works of literature using a variety of approaches.

2. Participate in class activities such as discussion, writing, and presentations.

3. Write 15-20 pages or 3750-5000 words for the course. This may include the following: journals, quizzes, papers, exams, research papers, class presentation, summaries, and responses

Final grade will be calculated as follows:

- Written responses: 35%
- Midterm Paper: 25%
- Final Paper: 30%
- Class participation: 10%

Attendance Policy:
Your presence is vital to our classroom community, so regular attendance is required. You will be permitted four absences after which your grade will be negatively affected. You are expected to come to class every day prepared to discuss assigned texts and to produce written responses both in class and at home.

A note on plagiarism: please give credit where credit is due! Honesty is expected of you. It is expected that the work you hand in will always be your own, and that you will never copy sentences, phrases, paragraphs, or whole essays from any other person's work, for that is plagiarism. If you are ever unclear about how to cite another person or author's ideas, come see me or consult your manual.

Written assignments must be formatted according to MLA standards. You will find citation guides on our library’s website. Please note that you will also be expected to produce a documented term paper with secondary sources; and you may find appropriate—relevant—resources in our library. You are encouraged to schedule an appointment with one of our reference librarians if you did not attend an instructional seminar in your writing class.

BCC’s Writing Center is located in L125, and you are encouraged to work with our faculty and professional writing tutors. Please note that the center is indeed a tutoring center—you are not to drop off your paper for proofreading as this is not a function of the center.
