Student Learning Objectives

The student will be able to:

1. Research the historical perspective to the science of ecology.
2. Apply a vocabulary of ecological terms.
3. Discuss the abiotic components of ecosystems including energy flow through ecosystems and biogeochemical cycles.
4. Investigate the physical, chemical and biological methods which measure the effects of various pollutants on the environment.
5. Analyze our ongoing energy problems and their possible solutions.

Student Assessment tools:

The above student learning objectives will be generally assessed or evaluated by instructors using a variety of assessment instruments including lecture exams, laboratory exams, quizzes, laboratory reports, written reports, presentations, projects, etc. The decisions concerning the type or types and number of instruments that are used in a specific section of the course will be left to the instructor of that section. • Assigning a lower final course grade;
• Failing the student in the course
• Other penalties appropriate to the violation;
In all cases, the instructor shall notify the Vice President of Student Services of the violation and the penalty imposed. The student has the right to appeal the decision of the instructor to the appropriate department head.

The student shall have the right to a hearing before the Vice President of Student Services or a designated judicial affairs committee. Judicial procedures governing violations of academic integrity are contained in the student handbook.

Class Attendance
All students are expected to attend punctually every scheduled meeting of each course in which they are registered. Attendance and lateness policies and sanctions are to be determined by the instructor for each section of each course. These will be established in writing on the individual course outline. Attendance will be kept by the instructor for administrative and counseling purposes.

Eating and Drinking
