

How Do the Best College Professors Foster Deep Learning?

Presented by Ken Bain

Internationally recognized for his insights into teaching and learning and for a fifteen-year study of what the best educators do.

Monday, May 14

10:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m.

Bergen Community College

Anna Maria Ciccone Theatre

400 Paramus Road, Paramus, NJ 07652

A strong body of research on student learning offers us some important insights on what do the best professors know and understand about teaching. Questions explored will include:

- How can we engage more of our students and help them learn deeply?
- How can we motivate students to take a deep interest in our subjects?
- How can we help students develop into curious, critically thinking, competent thinkers and learners?

The bestselling author and educator Ken Bain will lead this discussion at BCC's CITL Summer Institute 2018. His classic book What the Best College Teachers Do (Harvard University Press, 2004) won the 2004 Virginia and Warren Stone Prize for an outstanding book on education and society.

This highly interactive workshop designed to cultivate deep approaches to learning is open to all faculty and staff.

The Center for Innovation in Teaching and Learning (CITL) holds a 2-day Summer Institute for Bergen Community College's faculty every year. This year marks the fifth anniversary for the annual summer institute event. To learn more about the institute and register, please visit bergen.edu/citl/si.
