

FOR STUDENTS PLACED IN EBS 011 (Developmental Skills I)

Dear Student,

Your score on the placement test indicates that you are required to take English Basic Skills (EBS) 011. This course meets for five hours per week for intensive work in college reading, writing and critical thinking.

IMPORTANT FACTS ABOUT THIS PLACEMENT

FACT: Completing this course will give you five “non-degree” credits. This means that the course DOES count in your grade point average and toward full-time status for financial aid, but it does NOT count in the total number of credits you need for graduation. Since this course contains five “non-degree” credits, doing well can significantly raise your grade point average.

FACT: You will take EBS 011 in your first semester at the college. In the second semester, you will take the next level, EBS 012. At the end of EBS 012, you will need to take a “mastery” test in order to earn a placement in English Composition 1 (WRT 101). You do have options to skip EBS 012 if you do well in EBS 011. See more information in this handout about getting into WRT 101 sooner.

FACT: You have ONE opportunity to take a “challenge test” to change your placement in this course. You can challenge your placement before you register for classes, or your teacher might recommend that you challenge once he or she reads a sample of your writing in the first days of the semester. You can only take one challenge test, so make sure you are prepared.

FACT: Because your EBS classes will be worth “non-degree” credits, they are usually not transferable to other colleges. Therefore, it makes sense to pass your EBS courses, and then earn three degree credits in WRT 101 BEFORE you transfer. If you transfer before earning “degree” credits in English, the college you plan to transfer to might require you to take its placement test, and you might be required to take non-degree credits there.

FINALLY: Do not be disappointed with your placement in this non-degree credit course. Our research has shown that students who successfully completed the Developmental English program do better in English Composition 1 (WRT 101), a course required of all BCC students, than students who are not required to take Developmental English classes.

How to Get to WRT 101 Sooner (if you've been placed in EBS 011)

Option #1: WRT 101

If you take EBS 011 in your first semester, get an A and pass the EBS Mastery Test with at least a 7, you can skip EBS 012 and take WRT 101 in your second semester.

Option #2: WRT 101 with the EBS 033 Support Class

If you take EBS 011 in your first semester, get at least a B, pass the EBS Mastery Test with at least a 6, and have a professor recommendation, you are eligible to skip EBS 012 and take WRT 101 paired with the 2-non-degree-credit EBS 033 support course in your second semester.

Developmental English (EBS) At Bergen Community College

What is the purpose of the Developmental English Program?

The Developmental English Program provides the opportunity for students to learn the skills needed to be successful in college. It helps students improve reading, writing and critical thinking skills. It also teaches academic survival skills such as how to study, how to take tests, how to take notes, how to use the library, and how to use computers. Research shows that students who take EBS courses are more likely to pass English Composition I than students who were not enrolled in EBS.

Who administers the Developmental English program?

Students with questions about Developmental English should contact Professor Eileen Fitzgerald, Coordinator of EBS, in person in A-333D or by email at efitzgerald@bergen.edu. See www.bergen.edu/ebc for more information about the program.

How do students get into the Developmental English Program?

Students are required to take EBS courses because of scores earned on their placement test. As a result of the scores, students are placed in one of the four levels of EBS courses. Students who place into EBS courses must enroll in them their first semester and must take them continuously until they exit the program. Other college courses may be taken at the same time as EBS courses, but the total number of credits students can take each semester is limited to ensure student success.

Can students challenge their placement in the Developmental English Program?

Students who think their placement test scores do not reflect their ability are permitted to take a challenge test before registering for courses. In addition, students who enroll in EBS courses are given a second screening in the first week of classes and may be given permission by their professors to challenge their EBS placement.
